

David W. Dorman

Former Chairman and CEO, AT&T Corp.
Chairman, CVS Caremark
Director: Motorola Solutions, Yum Brands

Dave Dorman served as chairman of Motorola from 2008 until January 2011, when the company successfully separated its mobile device and home businesses. During this turbulent economic period, Dorman guided co-CEOs through the turnaround of Motorola's ailing mobile phone business and addressed complex governance issues related to its division into two standalone public companies-- all while being targeted by activist investors.

"Dave's leadership of the board through this extremely challenging period reminds me that nothing is impossible for those who refuse to listen to reason," says fellow Motorola director Sandy Warner.

"Dave was instrumental as Motorola navigated the separation of the company, the turn-around of the business, and the economic crisis of 2008," adds Motorola Solutions Chairman and CEO Greg Brown, who was previously CEO of Motorola. "His guidance and leadership helped drive outstanding results for Motorola and its shareholders."

Dorman is currently Motorola Solutions' lead independent director. He is also non-executive chairman of CVS Caremark, where he is guiding the company through major strategic change as it pursues a new retail/pharmacy benefit manager model.

Career Highlights

- Senior Advisor and Managing Director, Warburg Pincus (2006 – 2008)
- President, AT&T Inc. (formerly SBC Communications) (2005 – 2006)
- Chairman and CEO, AT&T Corp. (2002-2005)
- President, AT&T Corp. (2000 – 2002)
- CEO, Concert, an AT&T/BT global venture (1999 – 2000)
- Chairman and CEO, PointCast (1997 – 1999)
- Chairman and CEO, Pacific Bell (1994 – 1997)
- Previous directorships: Motorola, Scientific Atlanta, Phorm